

Hi, I have been a subscriber for over a year now and I love XM radio. I listen to it at home, in my car, and at work. At work my coworkers also love it to. I think that XM radio is doing just fine without NAB's help. They are just trying to block XM or take it over some how. So they keep being big in the world of radio. If they want to stay competative they need to set up their own inovative new radio system. Not use laws to limit or end their legal jump foreward in radio service. If people didn't like XM they would not buy the equipment or pay for the service!